

ROSA FEDELE

Rosa Fedele is an Australian contemporary artist and author based in the beautiful Central Highlands, Victoria. Unconstrained by conventional expectations, Rosa's work is genre-defying, often veering into the world of whimsy; her style a blend of figurative and illustrative with a touch of absurdism.

Whimsical, playful and nostalgic, her DREAM MACHINES series is a vibrant and joyful collection of works celebrating vintage and classic cars and Italian scooters, often accompanied by darling doggos and romantic beauties from the silver screen.

"I'm passionate about preserving these wonderful old machines on canvas; reflections and sunshine flashing off seductively curvaceous chrome, the patina of old duco, bumpers wrapped lovingly around steel bodies, the layers of colour and texture and, of course, delicious red rust.

I hope that my paintings will take you on a heart-warming and joyous ride in your favourite classic convertible, Italian silk scarf billowing in the breeze and faithful hound by your side."

Rosa has been a finalist in numerous awards, including the Portia Geach Memorial Art Prize, Almenara Art Prize (Spain), Copes Portrait Prize and Kennedy Prize; her work has been exhibited in NSW Parliament House, Parliament House Canberra as well as galleries and exhibitions in Australia and worldwide, and hangs in the Delta Airways Business Lounge LAX.

Her artwork GORDANA was also selected as part of the digital catalogue for The Lunar Codex, using digital and analog technology to preserve art, books and music in time capsules to The Moon, launched early 2024 on board Peregrine and Nova.
